"HEALTH SYSTEMS,
HEALTH AND WEALTH"

Tallinn, Estonia, 25–27 June 2008

BACKGROUND DOCUMENT

Health systems, health and wealth: Assessing the case for investing in health systems

1 – continuità nel tempo

- Healthier people are more productive
- Better health reduces demands on health care now and in the future
- Health and wealth reinforce each other. Health systems are a catalyst for both

2 – continuità tra servizi

Health and health systems work across sectors

- Health systems go beyond health care
- Health systems have a key stewardship role influencing interventions in other sectors that impact on health
- Ministries of health should be accountable for the health created by health services and across sectors

3 – continuità nel servizio

Health system performance measurement captures what is happening and what can be done better.

- It is central to improving performance and to justifying further investment
- Performance data must be fully aligned with governance systems and linked to management levers that can deliver improvements

4 – continuità nella persona

- Health reflects the progress of societies. Measures of social development must include health
- Healthier people are more productive
- Better health reduces demands on health care now and in the future
- Health and wealth reinforce each other. Health systems are a catalyst for both

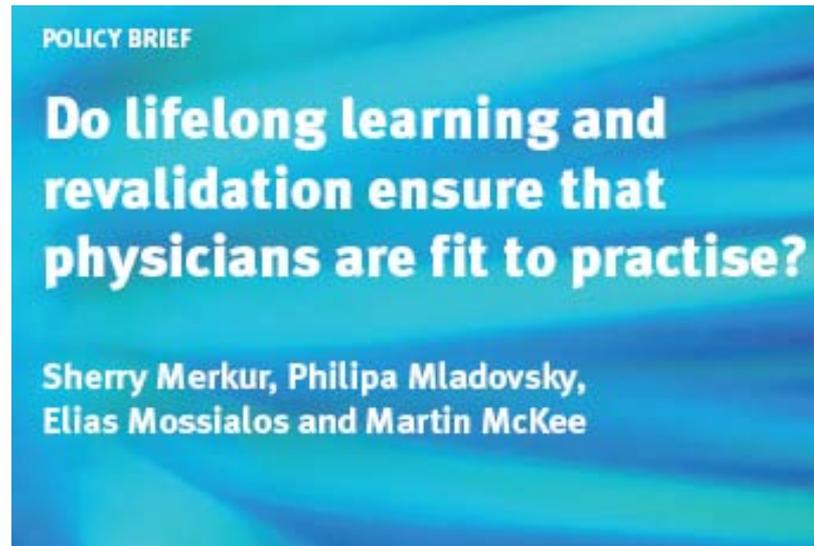

5 – continuità nel contesto

- Reflect the burden of disease and risk factors, combining prevention and cure accordingly
- Address the whole system and health in all policies not just services delivered by the sector itself

6 – continuità nelle norme e nella programmazione

- Address the whole system and health in all policies not just services delivered by the sector itself
- Draw on the wealth of comparative evidence on the impact of reforms and those, like strengthening primary care, which work best

7 – continuità del personale

conclusioni

- Ridefinire il concetto di continuità richiede di conciliare migliori pratiche quotidiane che si mettano continuamente in discussione con una strategia di “investing in health systems” di medio/lungo termine.
- Ne siamo capaci?
